DEPARTMENT OF ATOMIC ENERGY PRESS NOTE

THORIUM/URANIUM PLANT AT TROMBAY

Bombay, the 23rd February 1956

No. Tech.II/19(11)/55.—In May 1953 work started on the construction of the Department of Atomic Energy's thorium plant, which is located at Trombay on the outskirts of Bombay City, to treat the crude thorium cake produced at the monazite factory at Alwaye in Travancore-Cochin State.

Trial runs of the plant were started during the third week of July 1955 and the plant went into regular production in August of that year and by October 1955 it was possible to increase production by 30 per cent. more than the rated capacity of the plant.

Even before the plant went into operation the Department of Atomic Energy had already decided to increase its capacity to several times that originally planned, and work on the extension of the plant was immediately taken in hand. The extension has now been completed and the plant is going into its full increased production.

The plant will produce a few hundred tons of thorium and a few tons of uranium per annum, which is equivalent in fuel value to roughly a thousand million tons of coal. This is some thirty times the present annual production of coal in India.

The plant has been erected entirely by Indian engineers in charge of Mr. H. N. Sethna. A large portion of the equipment installed is made in India.

  - (c) whether the charkha can give a production of about 8 hanks of yarn, starting from the carding of cotton; or a production of about 16 hanks, if the rovings are separately prepared and supplied, for 8 hours effective work, by a person who has received training for 6 weeks and has regularly practised on the charkha for a further period of 6 weeks;

- (d) whether the tools or machines are capable of producing yarn of coarse, medium, and fine counts with necessary adjustments, the range being 6 to 18, 18 to 32 and 32 to 48;
- (e) whether the yarn is fairly even for the purpose of weaving on handlooms i.e. it does not result in too many breakages while passing through the reeds, because of variations in the counts;
- (f) whether the yarn is fairly strong for the purpose of weaving on handlooms i.e. it does not give any particular difficulty in sizing and weaving; whether it is capable of being woven more or less as easily as the average reeled yarn, available to handloom weavers and with more or less as much speed;
- (b) the availability of different varieties of cotton for producing different counts of yarn and to indicate which varieties of cotton are suitable for spinning different counts with the Ambar Charkha set;
- (h) what kinds of cloth, of specified reeds and picks, could be woven on the handloom from Ambar Charkha yarn and which from mill yarn;
- (i) the percentage of waste, at different stages in spinning and weaving compared with similar wastage in producing mill yarn of identical counts from the same variety of cotton.
